

ENJOYING RETIREMENT

Hello everyone, have you ever wondered or given a deep thought to the fact that one day you will be retiring from your present day job? If you have, what steps have you taken to ensure a happy living? Retirement should be a time when you catch up on things you sacrificed while in active service and have more time to yourself. Enjoying all these while your income is streaming in through various channels is possible.

If you don't have plans already, let me share with you a few tips in bringing these things to reality.

Perhaps the following tips will help live a more purposeful life;

- 1. Continue Your Hobbies: What were your favorite pastimes before you retired - crocheting, gardening, dancing, or golf? There's no reason to stop now. You may need to alter your hobbies to fit your physical abilities, but you can and should still do the things you enjoy most.
- 2. Exercise regularly: Take walks, go swimming and work in the garden. Every little bit helps you stay active and healthy.
- 3. Trade inactive time for active time: That is, instead of being on the computer, go bowling with friends. Instead of watching television, try playing a game that makes you get up and move.
- 4. Voluntary Contribution- Are you aware that voluntary contribution is available to you as an RSA holder? The good news is that you can take advantage of it, very simple to operate, while you contribute with your regular deductions, you can take a step further by sacrificing a little more by contributing an amount as decided by you (for the sake of the future) and contribute to your RSA. This simple act delivers to you an edge over others, it simply increases your return on investments and on the long run increases your retirement package.
